“Music can change the world because it can change people.”
— Bono

ARISE is proud to announce the release of the album ARISE which is dedicated to the prevention of suicide, the ending of bullying, and lifting of those in depression.

ARISE music team consists of artists from four different genres, DJ PJ doing hip hop, Jodi Lee in country, Mallory Ownbey in Pop, and Jhonny K in Rock. Each artist wrote and recorded 3 songs each on the album that they dedicated to assisting those in darkness and depression.

100% of the proceeds of this album are being donated to suicide prevention non profits such as HOPE4UTAH, NAMI, AFSP, and others.

Each song has been carefully produced by the award winning music production team for the last year. Led and produced by Jhonny K and Randy Slaugh, with engineering by Ken Dudley and Jason Jones, this talented team have collaborated to create an amazingly diverse, but cohesive album from each different genre.

The ARISE team is passionate about assisting creating awareness around mental health, suicide prevention, depression, and paving the way to healing.

Please #ARISEWITHUS and lets end the stigma of mental health issues and suicide.

The Album will be released worldwide in February of 2015.
